The huge changes to Inheritance Tax (IHT) in the Budget call for a re-thinking of provisions in wills, and variations of estates and trusts in Wills, to make full use of the reduced agricultural and business reliefs and prepare for the planned pensions changes. These will add considerably to the IHT burden of many and add to the potential loss of RNRB - which necessitates new thinking. New issues also arise for lifetime trusts for APR & BPR.

- What will planning would now help clients concerned about their exposure to increased IHT?
- What are the key elements of the main changes on pensions and APR/BPR relevant to wills and trusts?
- We will consider any updates on these major issues.
- How can trusts in wills help make effective use of the Nil-Rate Band and RNRB, to bank these sums and the maximum APR/BPR, and reduce the estate of a second spouse?
- What to do to use the RNRB for non-spouse couples.
- Options for leaving shares of property in trust, to avoid an unnecessary extra charge for IHT.

This Seminar complements the BDLS Webinar on Lifetime planning on 12 March, for those who attended that, but it can also stand alone for those who did not. The Spring Statement may in practice need to be a further "mini-budget" and we will consider any extra capital tax changes that are made.
